

We have very much enjoyed not having our lives disturbed by our phone ringing by solicitors at least a dozen times in one day; this number being a conservative number. We signed a petition to not be bothered by solicitors, in our home, on our phone that we have paid for and continue to pay for the use of the phone line.

The "bankers" who believe that they know what is best for us as a consumer need to think otherwise and to adhere to OUR wishes!

Those wishes being; to not be disturbed, bothered or frustrated by the phone calls of strangers coming into our home, via the phone to push their product on us. We are perfectly capable of finding product on our own in the manner we see fit. Not by being disturbed in our homes. We take offense to the "bankers" and the FCC who arbitrarily make these decisions against what WE and many others have already clearly decided.
